Privacy Policy

Creative Technology takes the privacy of your personal information very seriously. Please read this policy carefully. By using this website, you agree to be bound by this policy in respect of the information that may be collected about you.

Creative Technology will collect and store personal information which you voluntarily provide to us when enquiring about or ordering our services. We will use that information to provide you with information about our services or otherwise to deal with your enquiry. We may also pass that information on a selective basis to our associated companies within the Avesco group around the world to enable them to send you information which we believe may be of interest. We will take steps with the aim of ensuring that your privacy rights continue to be protected by our associated companies. We will not otherwise disclose any personal data except with your permission or unless required by law or for the prevention of fraud or other crime.

Creative Technology may collect and analyse data on an anonymous, non-personal basis in order to monitor usage of this website with a view to providing a more effective service.
